Grant for African-American Women in Computer Science

The grant provides scholarships from $4000 to $10,000 per year for> female African American students. We need your help to get the word out about this great opportunity to build back up the enrollment of women in the CIS Department. Pass this information along to high school or community college students, their parents, and to guidance counselors you may know. The full text of the press release can be found at:
